

Ringer™ wire stripper for shielded cables with 0.127 mm insulation, Ø 3.0 - 5.6 mm, orange

The ring cable stripping tool, insulation thickness 5 mm, orange from IDEAL impresses with its precise workmanship and high functionality. Developed for professional applications, this tool enables effortless and clean stripping of a wide range of conductors and strands. The spring-loaded head holds the cable at exactly the same tension so that no further adjustment is required. The clamping jaw with V-notch automatically positions and holds the cable, which increases cutting accuracy. The dimensions of the fixed blades are adapted to the insulation and prevent inaccurate cuts. The 17-4 stainless steel construction ensures a long service life. Guide rollers ensure correct alignment of the head and a clean, square cut. Not recommended for cables with 5 mm insulation thickness without front blade. The robust design and ergonomic shape ensure comfortable handling and a long service life. An indispensable tool for electricians, technicians and anyone who wants to carry out precise and efficient work in the field of cable processing.
