

Hygostar detectable beard protector, blue, made of nylon, 5mm mesh size, PU: 36 pieces

This beard protector has been specially developed for hygiene-sensitive areas in the food industry. The special feature: It is detectable. This means that the beard protector can be detected by a detector machine if it should accidentally get into the production. Detectable workwear like the beard protector makes your production safer and more hygienic. The detectable beard protector reliably keeps beard hairs back and protects the production from contamination. A beard guard is often referred to more generally as a chin guard or chin net. The beard protector is made of very soft nylon. Disposable nylon products are particularly soft and light on the skin - for extra comfort.

- made of nylon, detectable
- on cardboard disc, BRC compliant
- with latex-free elastic band
- very breathable and permeable to air thanks to honeycomb structure
- can be pulled up to above the nose

- blue colour for good visual recognition
